Ration Work Divided By Board Here

Members Delegated To Pass On Requests For Different Commodities

In accordance with the request of Fred Yerger, state organization officer of the OPA that each member of local rationing boards be given some specific work and assigned either to sugar rationing, tires, price ceilings or automobiles, typewriters and automobiles, S. A. Cowart, local rationing chairman, indicates that local rationing responsibility will be broken up and delegated to various board members.

However the local board composed of Mr. Cowart, Frank Spencer, Joe Russell, Wm. Maloney, Joseph Weber and R. F. Fitzwilliams as regular and alternate members will not be increased to a panel of 12 as in some cities. Volunteer workers will continue to serve in an unofficial capacity as formerly.

Mr. Cowart said yesterday that orders had been received fixing maximum rationing allowance for sugar at 15 pounds. However only regular board members will be permitted to issue this amount, maximum issuance for volunteer workers having been placed at 12 pounds. Paul d'Orr, state rationing officer, in setting forth the new ruling stated: "The allotment of sugar for home rationing must be governed by a conservative and sound discretion. While it is the policy of the OPA that fruit shall not be wasted because of lack of sugar, there are several features to consider: The existence of fruit likely to be lost and unconsumed if not canned; previous actual consumption of canned fruit by the family in former years; the possibility (indeed, the probability) that large quantities of certain fruits can be conserved by drying; knowledge and ability to can fruit on the basis of one pound of sugar per gallon of fruit canned; whether the applicant has used sugar previously allotted in the manner required by the regulations."

Said Mr. d'Orr: "The fact may be that a person has a considerable number of fruit trees or an orchard of fruit, all of which can not possibly be canned and eaten. In such cases it is well to suggest that the applicant need not waste the fruit, that it can be given away if not sold, to deserving neighbors and persons in the community. Some of our finest fruits can be dried or dehydrated and thus conserved. The process is simple, well-known and inexpensive."

Official instructions in bicycle rationing were received by the board this week and reveal that applicants for bicycle purchase certificates must be able to show that one or more of the following circumstances is applicable to his case: "He must travel quickly or frequently in delivering merchandise or messages, or in performing his business, occupation or work, and he would be better able to do so by bicycle than by walking or by using public transportation facilities; without a bicycle and using the most convenient public transportation facilities he would have to walk a total of at least three miles in going to and coming from his business, occupation or work; or, he would have to spend a total of at least 1½ hours including necessary walking and waiting time, in going to and from his work by the use of public transportation facilities which time would be reduced by at least 30 minutes through the use of a bicycle; or the available public transportation facilities are overcrowded, or that bicycles are needed for the transportation of officers, agents, employees or volunteer workers of the applicant who meet one of the above standards."

Ben Stinman Back On Road To Recovery

Friends of Ben Stinman, chief electrician's mate in the U. S. Navy, will be glad to hear that although he is still confined to the San Diego Naval Hospital, he is recovering satisfactorily from the slight stroke he experienced several months ago. Mr. Stinman was visited Sunday by Mrs. Stinman, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Embree, Bert Embree and H. H. Egbert.

Heavier Fines For Speeders In Store Says City Judge

Appeals to patriotism and moderate fines appearing not to be effective in reducing the speed at which many motorists feel it necessary to drive, City Judge Tom Neale on leaving the bench after hearing many traffic complaints yesterday, expressed the opinion it would probably be necessary to double or further increase the fines for fast driving here, as has been done in many other cities.

Fifteen traffic cases were heard in the city court and regular fines imposed Monday. Many were on citations issued for driving in excess of 40 miles in 25 mile zones. Speed citations will prevent motorists from receiving certificates to purchase re-treads or new tires for the duration. Some violations were for failure to observe boulevard stops and parking laws.

Set Limit On Water Suit Settlement

Council Hears Sierra Madre In Good Position In Pending Negotiations

Whatever basis for settlement of the Pasadena water suit is agreed upon should be made to cover a period of at least 25 years, the Sierra Madre city council believes. It adopted a resolution to this effect Tuesday evening when City Attorney Walter Dunn gave it a report on the series of conferences now in progress at which a settlement proposal drawn up by a committee of representatives of seven defendant cities and water companies is being considered.

This is the plan under which the defendants would pay Pasadena for the water they use out of the Raymond underground basin. Pasadena, using Metropolitan Water District water instead of the Raymond basin supply of which it claims a prior right to about the total capacity, would apply the proceeds it would thus receive toward payment of its obligation to the Metropolitan.

Dunn said terms of the proposed settlement seemed in the main satisfactory to most of the parties named as defendants and expressed the belief Sierra Madre was in good position under the conditions suggested. There are many details to be worked out before the plan is finally accepted or rejected, among them the length of time any settlement may cover.

After hearing Mr. Dunn's report the council voted to pay its share of the cost of the report made by the State Board of Water Resources following its three-year survey. This report was taken as the basis for the proposed settlement of the Pasadena suit and cost parties to the suit $40,000.

Observations

By Lee Shippey

THERE'S an old saying that what you don't know doesn't hurt you and it proves true nearly every day now. If the official weather report shows the temperature peak day before yesterday was 89 somebody is sure to say: "I didn't realize it was that warm," whereas if we had known it that day we would have gone about suffering.

Drivers Needed For Service During Blackouts Or Raids

Carl Hansen, coordinator of the driver's corps for the Defense Council, is asking for the volunteer enlistment of 10 experienced drivers who would serve here during a blackout or enemy raid.

Cars are now equipped with blackout lights and ready for immediate operation, but qualified drivers have not enrolled for this service. Those volunteering must have had a standard course in Red Cross first aid or be willing to take such a course as well as brief supplementary training including emergency roadside service, and blackout driving instructions which will be given either by Mr. Hansen or Louis Sparks.

Residents willing to volunteer for this important branch of civilian defense work are asked to dial Mr. Hansen at 5731.

Many Sierra Madreans Join Colors

Local Youths Enter Various Branches Of The Nation's Fighting Service

Army, Navy, Marine and Air Corp ranks were swelled this week by a large group of young Sierra Madreans who left for service with Uncle Sam's fighting men.

Among volunteers were four boys who enlisted in the Navy and left Monday for San Diego. This group which was honored with a going away celebration at the home of Mrs. Cosma Grippi of N. Mt. Trail avenue, included Junior Grippi, 17-year old son of Mrs. Grippi; Bill Dyche, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Dyche of 323 N. Mt. Trail ave.; Joe Gallian, son-in-law of the Melvin Hills, and Alan Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Robertson of 51 Canyon avenue.

Most recent marine volunteer is Frederick Erwin Long, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Long of 639 East Orange Grove avenue. Young Long who also left Monday, is 20 years old and a graduate of Pasadena Junior College.

Wayne Cass, Jr., of 194 East Montecito avenue, volunteered for the Air Corps and began his training on July 23.

Included in the group of selectees who were called up for induction this morning were Edward Francis McClosky, 24, of 207 Grove st., and Royce Raymond Williams, 21, of 45 Auburn avenue.

Finds What War Means To Civilians

Frightfulness Of Bombing Demonstrated At School For Aid Raid Wardens

Bruce McGill, Chief Air Raid Warden for Sierra Madre, has returned from the recent Defense School conducted at Stanford University for OGD control board members, with an unpleasantly realistic idea of modern warfare.

Classroom work was augmented by field training which included exposure to tear gas, with and without masks; exploding of fire bombs, solid oil bombs and the setting off of high explosive bombs, which gave practical information regarding their control during an actual raid.

After achieving an average of 98 on all tests given the class, Mr. McGill was chosen to fill the place of Chief Air Raid Warden on the practice control board and received high commendation from Major Arthur G. Rogers of the U. S. Army Ordnance School in Maryland, who stated that he was the only student on 12 such boards who had been able to give the correct answer to a specific problem.

Concurring with the Army declaration that civilians must come to the realization that self reliance must be part of the civilian defense program, Mr. McGill will instruct classes of local air raid wardens on the most recent developments in civilian protection. First class will be held at the city hall Monday evening, when war gasses, bombs and the current approved method of controlling incendiary bombs will be discussed.

Teachers To Get 10 Pct. Boost In Pay

Although a 10 percent salary increase will be given to Sierra Madre school teachers next year, and increased expenditures in maintenance and operation are anticipated, the district school tax rate will not be increased.

Economy in school operation during the last year has resulted in a cash balance which will largely offset the necessary budget increase. Total budget requirements for the year are set at $60,485 as against $57,403 for last year. The current district tax demands are $22,973, while last year they were $23,949. Estimated net total available balance and current receipts other than district taxes amount to $37,512.

A public hearing on the budget which appears in complete form elsewhere in the NEWS will be held at 7 o'clock, August 1, at the grammar school.

Girl Repents Attempted Suicide

Despondency over an upset in her marriage plans was blamed by Mary Trejo, 16-year old Duarte girl, for her attempted suicide at a local hotel Tuesday morning.

Miss Trejo, daughter of Mrs. Isabel Trejo, took a room at the Hotel late Monday afternoon. Tuesday morning she purchased a drug that she planned to use in her shampoo. Returning to her room she drank the liquid. Shortly afterward she apparently became frightened by her act and in great agony leaned from the window and attracted attention of a passerby who notified police.

Joe Swanson and police officers responded to the call and administered first aid. Further treatment was given by Dr. J. E. Gossard who ordered her removal to the General Hospital where her condition is reported as satisfactory.

Chaplain Named To Serve At Local Casualty Stations

On recommendation of Dr. W. B. Heagerty, Rev. Frederic Groetsma has been appointed chaplain for Sierra Madre casualty stations to serve during enemy action as contact officer between the injured, their relatives and clergymen of all denominations.

In outlining work of the chaplain, Dr. Heagerty said: "The duty of the chaplain assigned to a casualty station would be to minister to the spiritual needs of casualties or their relatives or offer to obtain the services of clergymen of any denomination requested by any injured distressed person at the time of a war or enemy disaster."

"As it is the duty of the Chief of Emergency Medical Service to assign a chaplain I have recommended Rev. Groetsma to serve in this capacity. He has completed the standard course in first aid under the Red Cross. He is active in Civilian Defense work and is also chairman of the committee on housing and shelter in the Sierra Madre Red Cross chapter. However this appointment will not interfere with his work on that committee."

Mr. Groetsma's appointment as chaplain was confirmed by Mayor Schwartz yesterday.

To Ask WPB About City Hall Rubber

Within the next few days an official letter will go from the City of Sierra Madre to the War Production Board asking whether city owned rubber hall runners in the city hall are needed to boost the rubber resources of the nation.

The decision to send such a letter was reached Tuesday evening after Mrs. Helen Narozny appeared before the council and suggested that the mats be taken up and given for use in war production. Mrs. Narozny, Sierra Madre artist who is giving much time to salvage work here said, "There is a time for talk and a time for action; this is a time to do as we are told and not to begin controversies. By taking action we can help prepare the public mind for cooperation in the war effort."

Suggestion that the War Production Board should be contacted was made by Mayor Schwartz on the grounds that he believes that only articles no longer in use should be contributed to the production line. Mrs. Narozny dissented, stating that letters of this type seemed unnecessary and would only add to the confusion. "It would appear ridiculous indeed if all the women in this community should find it necessary to ask for a decision from the War Production Board before giving up rubber sink strainers and other household articles," she said.

At the conclusion of the discussion Mrs. Narozny withdrew her protest.

Going To Fly

Johnnie Grippi, young Sierra Madrean inducted into the Army shortly after Pearl Harbor, returned to town Saturday for a week's visit with his mother, Mrs. Cosma Grippi, and family of N. Mt. Trail avenue. He will leave Saturday for the Advanced Flying School at Victoria, Texas.

Joe Swanson Will Fill Many Places

Faithful City Employee Showed With Positions Of Trust By Councilmen

Joseph Swanson, long time faithful city employee, member of the water department and the volunteer fire department, was chosen Tuesday evening by unanimous vote of the city council to be water superintendent, purchasing agent and property officer, taking over the work formerly performed by Wm. Schwartz, whose resignation was accepted. Vacation pay due Mr. Schwartz was granted.

Mr. Swanson will function in his new capacity at his regular salary until the new city budget is completed. Any salary change will be retroactive to August 1, however.

Also appointed to assume Mr. Schwartz' work on the Control Board and as an executive member of the Defense Council, Mr. Swanson will serve as chief of the division of emergency public works service on the Control Board and chairman of the committee on public works of the Defense Council.

J. C. Rogers, electrical contractor, was named chief of the division of emergency utilities service on the Control Board. This vacancy was created when Wm. Burr, former local agent for the Edison Co., resigned to take over new duties as field representative for the Red Cross.

Local Priest Is Prisoner Of Japanese

Former Head Of Passionist Monastery Refused To Leave Philippines In Time

Among Sierra Madreans known to have been captured by the Japanese at Corregidor and now interned in a Japanese prison camp is the Very Rev. Edwin Ronan, C.P., first Superior of the Passionist monastery here who served as head of all Catholic Army chaplains in the Philippine zone.

In a recent letter to Father Alan Prendergast, present superior of the monastery, President Manuel Quezon, a long time friend of Father Ronan, stated that although he had entreated Father Ronan to accompany his party when they were forced to leave the island, the priest chose to stay with the men of Bataan and later went with those who escaped to Corregidor where he was taken with other American prisoners when the fortress fell.

Father Ronan who resigned as superior of the Passionist Monastery at Louisville, Ky., during World War I to serve as an Army chaplain in France, was stationed at General Pershing's headquarters at Chaumont until the close of the war.

In 1932, shortly after the monastery was completed here, he was appointed superior and served until 1935 when he returned to Detroit. Five years ago he went to the Philippines as head of all native chaplains on the request of President Quezon, and was commissioned as head of Army chaplains after U.S. forces took command. Since that time he had been serving with American front line fighters.

Want Women To Man Nearby Air Observation Posts

Women volunteering for this service must be able to furnish their own transportation to an assembly point approximately five miles from Sierra Madre. Qualified applicants for the work should register at the city hall.

New City Judge On The Bench, Neale On Leave Of Absence

Stating that the increased pressure of work occasioned by new responsibilities connected with the war will make it difficult for him to perform his duties as city judge for the next three months, Judge Thomas Neale, petitioned the city council for a three months leave of absence Tuesday evening. The leave was granted unanimously and Noren Eaton, appointed to take over Judge Neale's work until his return to office.

Mr. Neale has served as city judge for the last 10 years. Mr. Eaton, who built a home here and became a Sierra Madrean several years ago, has been a member of the California bar since 1925. He attended Whittier College and graduated from USC. Locally he is active in the State Guard, and is a member of the Kiwanis Club. He was a law partner of the late Robert Mitchell, a former mayor of Sierra Madre.

Home Nurses Class Open To Men, Too

One Group Will Graduate Tonight As Others Are Being Organized Here

Red Cross war time goal of training 500,000 women and girls and even men, in the tasks of home nursing, is receiving excellent support locally. Second class to receive instructions from Mrs. Augusta Coates since Pearl Harbor will be awarded certificates this evening by Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard, at the home of Mrs. E. R. Thompson, home nursing chairman. Mrs. Coates, R. N., who has given the course to scores of local women, will be present.

Declaring that the scope of home nursing for civilians has been broadened, greatly by the necessity of calling up nurses, and nurses aides for military and naval hospitals and foreign bases, the Red Cross is intensifying its effort toward enrolling an increased number of home nursing students.

Another local class will be of persons registered, states, Mrs. Coates. The course includes individual health, and personal hygiene, healthful home environment, including care of the home for a normal family life; home care of the sick during minor illnesses; also care of the aged, infants, preschool and school children and preventative measures for the prevention and control of communicable diseases.

Women receiving their certificates tonight have worked with great sincerity, according to Mrs. Coates, who states that a knowledge of home nursing as well as first aid will be of great assistance to civilians should this coast be bombed.

Included in the current class are Mrs. Mary Alfred, Sylvia Colbert, Marion M. Douet, G. Kistner, Genevieve B. Forgey, Grace Koch, Hazel Kreuscher, Josephine E. Marr, Violet G. May, Cleo Gregg Minnick, Genevieve Nicholson, H. Beatrice Pratt, Anna I. Rogers, Wanda Schultz, Alice Tarwater, and Misses Jane Miller and Martha Pritchard.

PROTECTION OF HOMES WITH FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT BEST BOMB INSURANCE

State Defense Council Urges Every Family To Take Proper Steps Now

As part of a far-reaching home protection program, the State Council of Defense yesterday issued a warning to Californians to take immediate steps to equip their homes, so that they will have the necessary fire-fighting equipment should enemy planes bomb coastal cities.

The greatest safeguard to protect life and property, the defense council statement said, is for the people to know how to fight fire bombs successfully. "Every dwelling, large or small, whether mansion or humble cottage, should be fully prepared for any eventuality. Every occupant should know how to handle fire bombs. The time to do this is NOW. Next week it may be too late. This is the best insurance we can have," the warning continued.

In addition, the council called "every Californian" to provide a refuge room which "should be made as safe as possible." Attics

First Pickup Of Salvage Here Monday

Importance Of Campaign Is Shown As Shipbuilding Is Being Held Up

Importance of the Salvage for Victory campaign which opened this week was emphasized yesterday on the eve of Sierra Madre's first junk collection by Chairman Land of the Maritime Commission, who in testifying before a Congressional committee announced that ship production is far below capacity because of a shortage of steel.

First junk collection here will be Monday and in preparation for it the local salvage committee was practically completed this week when Chairman John Froehlich of the Service Corps, named four women to serve as salvage sector captains, in addition to the block wardens and their assistants. Mrs. Fletcher White was named captain of the entire western section of the city; other section will be captained by Mrs. Woodson Jones, east of Baldwin and north of Sierra Madre Blvd.; Mrs. Ethel Henderson, south of Sierra Madre Blvd., and east of Baldwin, and Mrs. J. P. Nash, Canyon Park.

These women will be assisted by volunteer block wardens whose duties will include keeping in touch with all salvage requirements of the production line and seeing that no materials lie idle in their respective blocks. Block wardens will visit all homes and inform residents of salvage needs. All materials should be gathered and made ready for collection agencies which will completely cover the town on the first Monday of each month.

Next Monday, concurrently with the opening of an intensive campaign to strip every home and business establishment in Los Angeles county of all scrap materials vital to the war effort, the first city wide collection of all salvage materials will be made here.

A recent federal estimate revealed that an additional 6,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel are needed immediately in war production and that great quantities of rubber and other materials are still needed so that the armed forces may not sufficient fighting weapons.

Specific articles requested for salvage donations include, old stoves, pieces of painting, tools, crank handles, lawn mowers, tire chains, iron bedsteads, flat irons, garden implements, oil springs, all kinds of metals, rubber, rags, manilla rope and burlap bags, as well as small articles.

Locally the Salvation Army and Goodwill Industries will alternate in making the collection monthly and will handle all sorting and selling for the Civilian Defense Salvage and Conservation Committee. No profit will be made on the operations as all proceeds received by the committee will be returned to the community from which the salvage originated to be used for the purchase of emergency civilian defense equipment.

"Raids on civilian populations are designed to lower morale, create confusion and panic," the council declared. "Consequently, if a home is prepared and the occupants able to put fire bombs out quickly, raids would fall short of their objective, many lives will be spared and great property damage avoided."

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of bandages."

Training To Provide Good War Jobs

Free Classes Provide Instruction In Work To Which Many Will Be Called

Declaring that the battle for war production is fast approaching a critical period and that practically all experienced workers are now employed on the production line, the U.S. Employment Service is sending out a call for people to train for war production jobs.

Passing along information released officially, Edwin Ward, local representative of the service, said yesterday, "The Federal government has established free training schools all over the nation to meet this emergency, and one of three schools located in Southern California is now operating on a 24-hour basis in Pasadena, where free national defense training classes are being given in the public schools. Over 5000 men and women have already been trained in Pasadena and are now working at good wages in industry."

Thousands of additional jobs are now waiting for qualified workers who will take a short training course. Citizens now employed in non-war work may, and should, make every effort to take some kind of war training if this battle of production is to be won, in the opinion of the U.S. Employment Service.

New classes are now opening and citizens are urged to apply at 745 East Green street, Pasadena, for immediate short course training in aircraft sheet metal, drilling and riveting, and aircraft sub-assembly, which are open to both men and women in the 18 to 40 age group.

Classes now open exclusively to men include instruction on wood working machines, wood pattern making, shipfitting (reserve list), welding and foundry molding which promises excellent after war employment and which is not in a highly competitive field. This class is conducted nightly from 6 to 12 except Sunday. Many jobs for foundry molders are now waiting according to the Employment Service.

Hinshaw Hopes For Election At The August Primary

Congressman Carl Hinshaw returned to his district from Washington Monday to run into a series of celebrations honoring his birthday on Tuesday. He was guest at a breakfast and reception at Eatons in North Hollywood, a noon luncheon and reception in the Glendale Masonic temple, a reception at the home of Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller in Pasadena, and a 6 o'clock dinner and non-partisan meeting at the Masonic temple in Pasadena.

"It is good to be back home," said the Congressman last night, "and certainly cheering to receive the warm welcome I have received everywhere I have been since my return. My objective is to be elected at the August 25 primary election as a non-partisan candidate and from the assurances of support I have already received from leaders of both the major parties it seems entirely probable this objective will be accomplished. I have worked hard to serve the people of this district without regard to party and this fact seems thoroughly appreciated by the voters, who believe my experience in Washington is invaluable to the district at this time."

A.L.A. Activities

At a pretty, late afternoon ceremony held in the gardens of the Val Miller home at 144 San Gabriel court, new officers of the Unit were installed Thursday afternoon. In the gift distribution which followed, Orceola Stinman was presented with a gold key, treasurer's symbol, she having served in that capacity for four years. Newly installed president, Catherine Miller, named her committee chairmen as follows: membership, Lucile Pickett; ways and means, Leila Embree; child welfare, Bertha Irvine, hospital, Lotta Hopper; Americanism, Claire Moon; community service, Minnie Stinman; parliamentarian, legislation, constitution and by-laws, and OCD, Grace Caukin; hostess and poppy, Orceola Stinman; education, music and radio, Sylvia Quittner; publicity, Maybelle Barker; disaster, Dolly Hill; auditors, Ora Olsen, Maybelle Barker and Minnie Stinman.

A delicious chicken dinner followed the meeting. Our next meeting will be held on August 13th at the home of Bertha Irvine, 169 San Gabriel court, at 2:30 o'clock. Maybelle C. Barker, Press Chmn.

The jobs are open to citizens between the ages of 18 and 55 and will pay 85c an hour with time and a half for overtime, which averages 20 hours or more a week. The work will last for at least six months. Men who weigh 140 pounds or more and able to do heavy labor are asked to apply.

Housing is available with board and room for around $12.25 a week, while the average weekly pay with overtime will be $59.50 or more. Approximate cost of transportation to the job is $11.

Real Estate Agents Jump Commission For Rentals

An agreement was reached this week between all Sierra Madre real estate brokers to advance the commission on house rentals 5 percent beginning September 1. While in many other cities the prevailing commission rate is said to have been 25 percent for some time, in Sierra Madre the rate has remained at 20 percent.

As It Appears To me

To relieve the tension of local courtiers and explode the bomb which he dropped in their midst last week, P. L. Bonebrake returns to the column today to explain the mystery of the soldier's coat and cap to which he alluded inquiringly with strange results. Here is his account of the matter. "I made an innocent remark last week to the effect that I had seen a soldier's blouse and cap hanging on a certain young ladies front porch, and I was wondering if it was intended as a warning to the town boys that the Army had arrived.

"Since then seven young ladies have asked me if I referred to them; and their boy friends. It is very apparent that by a series of secret maneuvers the Army has moved in and consolidated its position in the heart of more than one Sierra Madre girl. If the local boys expect to continue to circulate in Sierra Madre society, they had better get into a uniform and I do not mean an elevator boy's uniform either.

"Now for the facts in the case of the cap and blouse. Whose it was and where. With permission of the young lady herself and of her parents I take genuine pleasure in announcing the engagement of Barbara Gerschler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Young of 185 Santa Anita Court, to William Thomas McLean. Miss Gerschler was born in Los Angeles but has lived in Sierra Madre for the last 13 years. She recently graduated from J.C. where she was an honor student, and for the last few months has been doing the secretarial and research work on J. K. Rollinson's new book.

"Mr. McLean is a native of Illinois. He is a Cadet Sergeant stationed at the Santa Ana Air Base where he is studying for a commission. The cap and blouse were 'his'n'—the front porch 'hern.' So there girls, you see it wasn't your soldier at all."

Libby, our society reporter, seeing this will probably frown mightily and definitely refuse to take me to see "Mamie" whom she has been telling me about for months—keeping me in a state of suspense by refusing even to hint as to who, what or where "Mamie" is. This column is certainly not the place to announce engagements, but because Mr. Bonebrake is a friend, I am indulging him and sending good wishes to Barbara and her soldier.

I hear from a secret informant that large scale high-jacking is going on about town and that nothing is being done about it. Culprits are two small boys who eschew work, but who nevertheless—of their own volition, bathed, dressed in their Sunday best—on Saturday—and with shining faces and sleeked down hair trudged up and down most of the streets in the west part of town ringing doorbells at every house and asking for stamps. They got a few—and so not being satisfied have greeted every subsequent caller at their home with the inquiry, "Have you got any stamps?"—now I ask "have YOU." If you have—and are not saving them for someone else you might drop them by the NEWS office—and make two little boys really joyous.

Because my mind is not all lightness it seems that there should be some seriousness in the column and so I will end by telling you some of the thoughts with which I heard a fine Jewish friend of mine charge his 13-year old son at his confirmation last week. "My son," he said, "our world is now going through a hard struggle—transitory of course but nevertheless hard. You should feel thrice blessed and grateful to be born in a country which is dedicated to Freedom and Liberty. You should so value this Freedom and this Liberty that if your country ever calls upon you to help preserve it, you will give your life gladly. And son, if you ever have to choose between poverty and humility and riches and arrogance you must choose the former because the humble man is the good man—and that is the way you must choose to follow."

—Margaret Elison.

LOOK OUT FOR THIS WHEN IN LONG BEACH

Motorists receiving traffic citations in Long Beach for violation of dim-out regulations have to make personal appearances in the court and fines are heavy. No car should be driven in excess of 25 miles per hour in the dim-out area, which extends throughout the entire city of Long Beach south of Pacific Coast Highway, formerly State street. There is considerable agitation to have an ordinance adopted making the entire dim-out area a 15-mile limit zone.

Navy Wants Youths For Patrol Duty In The Harbor Area

The Los Angeles recruiting district has been directed to enlist 275 men for duty in the Long Beach and San Pedro area for patrol duty and observation duty. It has been directed that these men be under 25 years of age and possess good vision and mental alertness. A large percentage of men enlisted for this duty will be trained in radio and communications and will eventually qualify in radio and signaling or comparable ratings. These men enlisted will be apprentice seamen and make their ratings as soon as they show the necessary qualifications.

Boys of high school age, i.e., under 21, may now be enlisted as a third or second class radio technician according to the grade obtained on the entrance examination. The recruiting office for this area is 124 N. Marengo avenue, Pasadena YMCA building.

Sierra Madre Girls In Talent Contest

Opening the annual search for talent conducted by the Pasadena Board of Recreation, Marlene Scoville, local marimbist who was a first division winner last year, appeared on the official talent search program over KPCC last night. Next Wednesday afternoon Marlene will appear again at the afternoon program to be given in the Civic Auditorium.

Marjorie Scoville, sister of Marlene, will be among the entrants in this year's contest. Both girls have just returned from a week's vacation at Seal Beach with their parents Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Scoville, and brother Edwin. Within a few weeks the family will enjoy another vacation at Sequoia National Park.

Nurses Will Make First Aid Supplies

Registered nurses now active in local civilian defense work will meet Tuesday morning, August 4, at the home of Mrs. Esther Daily, 105 East Sierra Madre Blvd., to sew on supplies for first aid stations. Mrs. J. C. James, director of the group, asks that all women bring thimbles, needles and thread as well as a box lunch.

COX RETURNS FROM VETERAN'S HOSPITAL

Sierra Madreans who have missed the friendliness of George Cox, former police chief, about town for the last six weeks were pleased to welcome him back home Monday when he returned from a sojourn at the Veterans Hospital at Sawtelle. Suffering from severe arthritic complications Mr. Cox was taken to the hospital early in June. Treatment has proved effective and he is now able to walk gaily about town again.

NO SPECIAL FAVORS

With more than two million civilians on the Federal payrolls today—an increase of 58 per cent in one year—it's none too soon that a measure has appeared in the House, designed to flush draft-dodging officials or employees from the protective ambush of government jobs. To date, draft boards have been left in the dark on the question of government deferments, yet there is good reason to accept the charge of Rep. Celler that there are "dozens of hundreds of government workers squatting in deferred jobs who have no right to them."

Many such posts, now held by able-bodied men in their twenties and thirties, could be adequately filled for the duration by older men. The former could obviously render a greater service to their country behind fighting lines than behind government desks. The public has a right to expect no favoritism. Draft boards are entitled to a clear-cut policy on the government deferment problems they are now wrestling with. The government's great and growing family, no more than the families of our millions of Mr. and Mrs. John Does, is entitled to no special favors.

RUBBER SUBSTITUTE

A wise man, taking the cash and letting the credit go, will pin most of his hopes for rubber on the morrow on the kind of driving he does today. He'll take to heart those thrifty-conscious commandments which advise: Start slowly. Park carefully to avoid scuffing. Drive, and stop slowly. Watch tire pressure. Follow the commandments of safety and conservation in driving, and you'll have the best substitute for rubber now on the market.

GOT YOUR STAMP?

Warning was issued Tuesday by Nat Rogan, collector of internal revenue for Southern California, that strict enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Use Tax law is planned by his office in the immediate future. Persons failing to purchase the $5.00 Federal Auto Stamp will be subject to all penalties provided by the Act.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Ships of the Destroyer type comprise the bulk of our fighting ships in the American Navy. Their average displacement is about 1800 tons, and they are fast, powerful, and hard hitting. They have been particularly effective in convoy duty and gave a good account of themselves in the Coral Sea engagement. They cost approximately $3,600,000 each.

Every Navy shipyard is turning out Destroyers in record time. They are essential for our two-ocean Navy. Purchase of more and more War Bonds will assure all-out production of these vital units for the Navy. Buy every pay day. If everybody invests at least ten percent of his income in War Bonds we can do the job. U. S. Treasury Department

The... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

THERE'S that delightful old story about Melampus, one of the first Greek prophets. How, in front of his house there was an oak tree where a pair of snakes were rearing their young; and how, when the old snakes had been killed by thoughtless slaves Melampus saved the lives of the young ones; whereupon, as a token of their gratitude (or their recognition of his divine potentialities), the young snakes came to Melampus when he slept and licked his ears, thus enabling him to understand the language of all Nature's children. Even of termites, it seems, as Melampus was to prove on one occasion. Which we'll skip. But we used to wish—we've never really left off wishing it—that snakes, or their equivalent, could have licked our ears.

IF NOT our ears, then the ears of someone else. Especially today. For, what has become of the prophets? We never have believed that the Lord left off talking to his children, by whatever channel, simply when John closed the Book on Patmos. The work of Creation still goes on—the water of the Spirit still springing up into everlasting life, with each new birth, with each new death—and such a flood of death now engulfing and about to engulf the earth as the world has not known since the days of Noah. We thought of all this and much besides while reading that remarkable piece in Fortune for May, called "Our Moral Chaos," by Willard L. Sperry, Dean of Harvard Divinity School. No small-town skeptic he, naturally; but a theologian widely accepted and widely followed.

LET'S pause a moment and quote from Dr. Sperry. He asks: "Why has religion been so ineffectual in our present distresses?" For us, at least, he answers this perfectly by implication in an anecdote. Of an American preacher who once went to Oxford and there, in the course of a sermon, said, "In the blackness of the night my sins pass before me in a scarlet procession." Then, how William Temple, the Archbishop of Canterbury (who ought to know), said, "No, our sins are not scarlet; they are all gray, all gray." How gray, even in this present hour, you need but read almost any religious publication to find out. For, even now, as Dr. Sperry himself declares, "We are told by the conventional theologians that we are sinners and that the present war is the judgment of God visited upon us for our sins." The italics are our own.

GRAY, all gray!—the Church, the Church in general. It wasn't always like that. Read the Psalms. "...The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" "...And the Lord helpeth them and rescueth them; he rescueth them from the wicked, and saveth them, because they have taken refuge in him." Or read Deuteronomy: "When thou goest forth to battle against thine enemies, and seest horses, and chariots, and a people more than thou, thou shalt not be afraid of them; for the Lord thy God is with thee. For the Lord your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you against your enemies to save you." The Preacher also said it: "To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under heaven:—a time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up..."

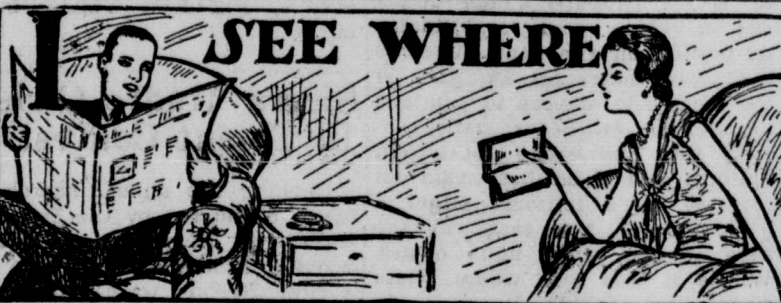

SO, every now and then, even today, out there in the garden, we are invaded by an odd feeling of deafness. A familiar feeling which we remember vaguely as having known as a child—when alone in our grandmother's garden or out in the woods. A sensation not unpleasant or frightening; rather the opposite—friendly and uplifting. But a deafness. As if the quiet that hung about us were yet filled with a voice—a Great Voice; a Voice familiar still to the birds and the trees, the minnows in the little pond, and the clear water of the pond. To all of these, still audible, familiar and friendly, giving them an added sparkle, joy and beauty. As it was, perhaps, once audible to us; but now, no more. Not that our deafness gives us any sense of deprivation. It is too much like being almost in touch with some miraculous recovery.

ANYWAY, we'd been reared, as you might say, in the atmosphere of the Old Testament. Where everyone, it seemed, had been hearing voices—or the Voice. All of which stories had been accepted by us and our people absolutely without question. Thus making ready in us an acceptance also later on of wonder-tales in other literatures—Nordic, Greek, Hindu and Chinese, American-Indian. We had an Indian friend, a Shawnee, who told us stories of various members of his tribe who'd gone out on occasion into the woods to pray and fast. Until they'd heard—the Voice, often that of bird or beast, but still the vehicle for God's own thought. Same as in the legend of Melampus. While our young men die may we regain that ancient heritage!

Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

With the Nazis pressing violently forward toward the rich Caucasus oil fields, with Japan poised for attack along Russia's Siberian border and protected by footholds on the outlying Aleutians, and the outcome of the Egyptian struggle still in doubt, the course of World War II has entered upon one of its gravest hours. The urgent, and well-known, universal cries among the United Nations for speedy opening of a second front have given added emphasis to the gravity of the crisis. Those self-same pleas have likewise pointed up the fact that this war can still be lost, and with it our freedom and democracy. Victors inevitably dictate the terms of the peace, and it can be easily imagined what sort of peace a victorious Axis would impose. Democracy has maintained its supremacy and leadership in the world through the last century and a half because nations or forces essentially democratic have won the fateful, decisive wars, civil and foreign. The Axis chieftains are utterly ruthless barbarians, cunning and calculating. They would never have dared challenge Britain, Russia and the United States had they not believed the odds favored victory for them, defeat for us. Our victory is yet to be won. To assume "it's in the bag" is perilously dangerous. Too much effort and sacrifice cannot be exerted to turn the fateful tides of war in our favor.

President Roosevelt is reported to have told congressional leaders the United States faces one of the most disastrous economic upsets in its history unless iron-clad controls are placed upon wage and price increases "in line with the public interest." Price control has worked—but only on those items to which price controls were applied. Large areas left outside price control have proceeded to totally nullify the entire program, and its primary goal of blocking runaway price advances which herald the onset of inflation. Nevertheless, organized labor groups in war industries persist in demanding wage increases, adding new fuel to a threatening inflationary bonfire. Complete control over all prices and wages will prove the next and inevitable step. He who said half a loaf is better than none was definitely not thinking of price control where half solutions provided no solution.

A war-time census of its members by the American Medical Association reveals that the United States today has more than 176,000 physicians, an increase of 64,000 since 1930. Of this number, approximately 81,000 are under 45 years of age. Fully two-thirds of these, under present Army and Navy plans, will be called into the armed services to build up understaffed medical corps. Since the country is going to find itself in the near future without the services of some 50,000 to 60,000 physicians now engaged in civilian practice, the public will have to take upon itself some of the duties of safeguarding the nation's health. A nation of healthy workers is a priceless asset at any time, but never more so than in a war period. Millions of workdays lost through avoidable sickness represents an incalculable drain on war production. Today, even despite rationing and shortages, Americans can find in their stores the most varied and bountiful offering of healthful foods to be found anywhere in the world. California's field and orchard riches offer a gold mine of health. All of us now have more reason than ever to stake out a special claim on it. Keeping America strong by keeping fit

HI NEIGHBOR

We've spoken of the Smyths before, those magpies living just next door, with windows open one can hear their conversations loud and clear. There's pa and ma, plus offsprings three, a normal average family, they babble, argue, chortle, fuss, perform in fact like most of us. From frequent listening we find that each has some pet peeve in mind, for instance youthful Oswald rants about new suits with no cuff pants; and as for pa his main lament concerns a threatened boost in rent. The twins flare up and just raise Ned each time they're ordered off to bed. Poor Ma complains her feet are tired and, "can't see why a maid ain't hired," to which suggestion Pa retorts, "Why don't you try some arch supports?" There are of course some joyful days, days, whenever father gets a raise or mother finds the time to bake the kids a pie or chocolate cake. Whatever faults the Smythes display, we'd hate to see them move away; it's folks like them we're fighting for, good, honest folks, who live next door.

Political Parade

By CLEM WHITAKER

In the year of The Great Emergency, candidates for public office, instead of proudly kissing the babies, may end up shyly kissing the ladies.

If you prefer to take the political kissing tradition figuratively, rather than literally, the fact still remains that this is a year when every candidate who isn't subnormal will woo the women's vote with vim and vigor. With the boys away the ladies are almost a cinch to dominate California's elections, both in August and November, and the resultant upsets may rattle the dome of the Capitol.

Political experts disagree as to the exact percentage of the vote which women will cast in the approaching State elections, but the estimates run from 55 to 65 per cent of the total. Splitting the difference, a conservative forecast would give the women 60 percent of the State's voting strength under current conditions, whereas they normally poll about 45 percent of the total vote.

As a consequence, nearly every campaign committee in the State has acquired a bad case of the jitters, trying to figure out what the ladies will do on election day. Contrary to all you've heard about women's talking proclivities, the feminine vote is largely a "silent vote." The women, when it comes to politics, aren't really as articulate as men.

What does that portend? Nobody in politics pretends to know, except that this is the year when women can just about write their own ticket. It's their big opportunity—the biggest they've had since they got the vote!

SIERRA MADRE JAPANESE AT ASSEMBLY CENTERS WELL TREATED BUT HOMESICK

Only complaint from members of the Sierra Madre Japanese colony now at the Tulare county Assembly center is that they are homesick for Sierra Madre and that it is really hot in the upper San Joaquin valley, the mercury having mounted to 118 a couple of times recently. Letters received at the NEWS office and by local residents says the Sierra Madreans are having a good time visiting among themselves. They have adjusted themselves and are getting along all right.

One letter reaching the NEWS this week stated, "The Sierra Madre group as a whole is closely located here so we can easily visit each other without much hardship. Camp life isn't the best but we certainly can't complain. At first things were hard (very hard) to get used to, but now gradually everything is improving."

Michio Noruma also wrote recently saying: "Here we are in Tulare on the old Fair grounds. We live in one large room of a barrack that houses five families. The food is fair but we don't have much of an appetite because it is so hot. The temperature rose to 118 the other day. We were inoculated for typhoid fever a few days ago, so some of us feel kind of low. Otherwise we are all in good spirits and hope for the best. The Sierra Madre gang are all here together which makes it very nice. It seems early to get homesick but we are."

Sam Hohri, who formerly lived here with his parents and sisters, went to Manzanar with one of the first groups leaving Los Angeles, and was on the staff of the Manzanar Free Press, modern newspaper now being published by Japanese at the center, until he became ill and may be removed to Olive View hospital. The paper is written and edited by young Japanese of both sexes who have worked on Los Angeles and San Francisco newspapers and is very creditably done. Apparently all manner of sports are part of the camp life, with frequent ball games between various teams, so that much space is devoted to sports. But there are meetings and many other activities that are "covered" by the paper's staff.

A reader gets the impression that the population is quite content—and well fed.

Bombings To Affect Use Of Water

Forty-five local water consumers who draw water through 2-inch meters have been advised by Wm. Schwartz, former city water superintendent, that all irrigation must cease here during and immediately following an enemy attack so that no unnecessary drain will be placed on local utility resources. The request was made by letter and was one of the last official acts of Mr. Schwartz before leaving the city employ to join the ranks of CAA engineers.

The letter which reached consumers early this week, read as follows: "This is war time. Our Army officials state that a raid by the enemy on our coasts is possible and probable. Any such raid might cause an interruption of our electrical supply. While the City Water Department has a gravity supply of water it is not enough to meet all demands during the irrigation season and we use electrical power to obtain the balance. Therefore we issue the following regulations: All irrigation must be stopped by the irrigator during an enemy raid upon Southern California and not again resumed until the raid is over and the irrigator knows that electrical current is available in Sierra Madre."

"THE BABY CYCLONE" NEXT AT PLAYHOUSE

America's Yankee Doodle man, George M. Cohan, had to be included when the list of all-time American humorists was made out by the Pasadena Community Playhouse forces for the current Drama Festival of comedies and "The Baby Cyclone" comes from August 3 to 8 as the Cohan laugh-offering.

"Clarence," current Pasadena Festival stage attraction, ends Saturday, August 1.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

A lot of improvements are needed in the fire department to increase our efficiency and only a big fire will ever be convincing. In the past there was little lacking in the way the fire calls were answered, but with little time lost. And now with the volunteers who sleep at the station from 10 p.m. until their working hours take them away in the morning, that part of the night is well covered. However, there are a few hours in the evening when a little more manpower that could be relied on to man the trucks wouldn't hurt a thing. These are the hours between 5 and 10 p.m., when most men are either returning from work or have been home and gone out for the evening. There is only one man at the station (a cop), at this time of the evening, and he is so tied to the air raid warning signal that to leave when a fire call comes in, is impossible. It is his worry to get the signal sent and then hope for a driver to come along to take the truck away. Our men are quite dependable and do come along, but there might come a time when they won't get there soon enough.

We know we have a number of firemen who attend our meetings and who are vitally interested, but we do not know when that time is coming when most of them will not be available on the spur of the moment. Just as long as there are sufficient firemen in town, we can rest assured that they will be there, so some provision that a full crew will be available should be made.

There should be no complaints of the cost of the upkeep of the fire department. The figure is ridiculously low for a town the size of Sierra Madre. Let us find all the holes and build up our efficiency.

Side Glances and Soliloquies

by Libby Trimble

Gardening is an occupation to be entered into only if one has a sense of humor, an inclination towards laziness and plenty of time. That is strictly my own idea, of course, and one I cannot recommend to people who really wish to accomplish something.

Friday I weeded the rose-bed, a little plot of ground all of five feet in diameter, and by starting at noon and working until 5 o'clock I cleared three-fourths of it. I dug and pulled, developing with every minute that passed a dreamier more thoughtful mood. I stopped and watched a few clouds sail over... stared at the pepper tree, gazed at the mountains and enjoyed the pleasure being derived by a bird who was taking a bath under the sprinkler. Then the neighbors came out of their houses one by one to see what and how I was doing, to visit, and to offer suggestions. We discussed the war, the weather and each other. I lolled on my back under the pepper tree listening and talking and lazily watching the pepper leaves fall, every so often rousing enough to brush off a few stray ants. The sun by that time was stubbornly descending, so with a show of energy I leaped up, slowly, and staggered back to the rose-bed, to continue the digging and pulling. The breeze died down and the sweat began to run. I was covered with pepper leaves and dirt and my face was red. And then, adding insult to injury, I backed up and sat down on a branch of the rose-bush with the biggest thorns just as a passer-by passed by and remarked, "My goodness but you do look cool and comfortable!" OOOOHHH!

I haven't been able to figure this one out yet. It's a clipping from the Robinson (Ill.) Argus, my former home-town paper, describing damage done by a recent tornado. "As is nearly always the case with storms they play a freak which was played at Fred Plunkett's when their hen house turned completely upside down and resting on the roof. They had a kid goat in the house when it turned over and the kid was in the house when it was found and how it stayed in there will never be known but it couldn't get out."

Mid-summer moonlight and a hike up the trail. Quiet does wonders for the state of one's mind and soul, especially the sort of quiet that causes one to do a bit of self examining. Much has been said, but evidently not enough, concerning the necessity of an occasional deep thought to stimulate growth and maintain a balance of emotions.

Delinquent Youth Problem Vital One Says Cecil Lacy

Here in interest of his candidacy for justice of the peace of this township on Tuesday, Attorney Cecil L. Lacy, of Monrovia, a former Scoutmaster, spent some time in conference with local Boy Scout officials on the subject of juvenile delinquency.

"The problems of juvenile delinquency—as well as adult crime—can be greatly reduced by a sympathetic understanding of and attention to youth problems," he told local Scout officials. "It is my firm conviction that, especially in wartime, any office serving so wide an area as the one I seek can be made an important force in the training of the youth at home."

Sierra Madre is a part, also consists now of Arcadia, Monrovia, Temple City, Azusa, Duarte and Glendora, and in his campaign for election Lacy is contending that the justice job and the position of Monrovia city judge should not be held by the same person, as now, but that it is sufficiently important to command the undivided attention of the incumbent. Lacy polled a large vote in Sierra Madre when he was a candidate for justice four years ago, before the township had been so greatly enlarged.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer and baby of North Hollywood visited Sunday with his aunt, Mrs. E. E. Bacon, of 240 East Alegria avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harrington of San Diego, recently from Minnesota, visited over the weekend with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Polgreen of 643 Woodland drive.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ward of 270 West Highland avenue, drove to Costa Mesa Sunday for a short visit with their friend R. A. Huntin who is seriously ill.

Mrs. Jack Mitchell and Mrs. Fannie R. Sea spent Sunday at the Church of The Open Door in Los Angeles where they attended the dedication of a service flag to 880 young men.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Evans of 397 West Montecito avenue, returned home this week following a two week sojourn at Big Bear lake. Glacier Lodge in the High Sierras is the favorite vacation spot of the Hugh C. Waddell family of 425 Canon. They arrived home Sunday night after having spent two weeks there. Miss Nina Neale is enjoying a week at the Del Mar Hotel, La Jolla, as guest of General and Mrs. Keller E. Rocky.
